BEHIND THE DESIGN

WET AREAS

Designed to harmonise elegance with practicality, the wet areas at Organica are the epitome of the design brief and modern living. XBOND plaster on walls not only eliminates grout lines, simplifying cleaning routines, but also ensures a seamless, polished finish that enhances both aesthetic appeal and functional ease. Beyond that, the decision to incorporate separate toilet areas was a non-negotiable for flow and privacy desires.

A standout feature of the design is the luxurious bath strategically placed downstairs, fulfilling Zoe's vision of creating a sanctuary where she and the growing family can unwind. Its elevated platform, thoughtfully integrated into the design, adds a touch of opulence. The decision to include a second bath upstairs also serves as a practical solution for keeping young children close (on the same floor) during daily routines like dinner preparation.

Embracing a natural and organic aesthetic, Astra Walker Eco Brass Tapware was selected to complement the charm of the rest of the house. These taps not only provide a timeless appeal but also stand as a testament to sustainability and durability, aligning perfectly with the ethos of creating spaces that marry luxury with environmental consciousness. The use of limestone floor tiles and XBOND Venetian plaster on walls further enhances the natural feel of the space, creating a cohesive and inviting atmosphere that speaks to both functionality and aesthetic allure.
